Regarding the system itself, having had experience with a competitive will call system, I am very pleased to say that PickPoint's Will Call System has many benefits over our previous solution.

First, the software is much more robust and very easy to use. Second, our previous will call solution bags were powered by batteries. This ended up being very costly as each battery cost us over $3, and each bag required 2 of them. Routinely replacing the batteries was time consuming and difficult, and we had to replace them every couple of months. We love the convenience of the PickPoint® powered rails. We never have to worry about the cost, hassle, and inconvenience of will call batteries ever again."
